ABOUT SOPHIA STROTHER LEWIS

Sophia A. Strother - CLAIMING her past by being the AUTHOR of her future.

If there were three ways to describe the phases in the life of Sophia A. Strother, they would be: LOST OF INNOCENCE, PERSEVERANCE, and SURVIVE AND THRIVE. Strother's childhood was filled with turmoil, including both parents falling prey to drug addiction, sexual abuse at the age of 9, "ultimately being sexually trafficked by age 13 and becoming a mother by 15 by one of her mom's dealers. . After escaping at 15 with the help of her grandmother, the odds were stacked against her. However, Strother did not take it lying down nor wished to become a statistic; she took the pain and used it as fuel to pull herself out of that dark place and become a voice to those who shared the same story. Sophia A. Strother is founder a multimillion company L2E.

In 2008, Strother founded Empowerment Driven by Knowledge Coalition (EDKC), a nonprofit organization that managed a statewide awareness campaign on sexual abuse, domestic violence and human trafficking titled #GETLOUDGETOUT. Her tireless efforts to raise awareness around domestic violence and sexual abuse led to being commissioned the "Yellow Rose of Texas Award" in 2016, the highest honor from the Governor bestowed to women with significant contributions to her community. Sophia is the author of two books "Sophia I'm Back" and "Taking My Life Back" 9 Week Study Guide detailing her own journey of survival and helping others to overcome their adversities. She has spoken at numerous conventions including the Global Human Sex Trafficking Prevention and Awareness Virtual Summit, Texas Association Against Sexual Assault Conference, and Light the Way Human Trafficking Conference hosted by The Texas Department of Family & Protective Services to name few more recently. She is a Board Member of Allies Against Slavery and the Facilitator for the Texas Human Trafficking Survivor Leadership Council. Her passion to rid the world of human trafficking along with enhancing communities one family at a time has led to her raising over $4 million dollars by assisting nonprofits, faith based organizations, and small businesses through producing live events, grant writing, and crowdfunding.

Strother is a rising star in the entrepreneurial world as well. She is the founder of L2E Industries, LLC, a premier courier service that is one of Amazon's top contracted delivery service partners. In 2021, she co-founded Meraki Medical Associates, a mobile clinic to fight the negative impact of COVID-19 towards Black and Brown communities. With her daughter, Strother launched a production company and co-wrote, directed, and produced "Love You to The Moon." She has been featured in articles in The WE Empower, Curls and Coils, Cosmopolitan Magazine, Amazon, and TheTalko.

Strother is currently a doctoral candidate at Liberty University focusing on Public Policy - diving into the intersectionality of race and sexual trauma. She holds an MBA in Marketing and a BSBA in Business Management from American International College.
